

1 Preamble

- (1) These site regulations apply to visitors and guests during their stay within the grounds and buildings of Messe Erfurt GmbH (hereinafter referred to as "MEF").
- (2) By entering the areas to which the site regulations apply, the visitors and guests of MEF and their clients accept these site regulations.
- (3) The grounds of Messe Erfurt are private property.
- (4) MEF and the respective event organiser monitor compliance with the obligations towards visitors and guests.
- (5) Any persons failing to comply with the site regulations can be removed from the premises immediately, excluded from the event and/or, in serious cases, permanently banned from entering the premises.
- (6) MEF stands for a liberal-minded, tolerant culture of event management and condemns any type of behaviour, philosophy or political opinion that is xenophobic, racist, homophobic, anti-Semitic or left- or right-wing extremist or that glorifies violence.

2 Purpose of the site regulations

- (1) The purpose of the site regulations is to ensure safety, security and order throughout the exhibition grounds. The site regulations aim to prevent endangerment of persons and damage to property, to protect MEF from damage and defilement, to ensure the smooth running of events and to preserve the character and function of Messe Erfurt in the long term.

3 Scope of application

- (1) The current version of the site regulations applies to the entire premises of Messe Erfurt GmbH, to all access roads and footpaths, outdoor facilities, open spaces and car parks.
- (2) The site regulations apply at all times, regardless of whether an event is currently being held or not, to all visitors, event organisers and their employees, service providers and MEF staff.
- (3) Visitors agree to be bound by these site regulations upon purchasing an admission ticket and/or at the latest upon entering the exhibition grounds, either by vehicle or on foot.

4 Admission and stay

- (1) Admission to the exhibition grounds and use of its facilities and structures is permitted only during the specified times and for the authorised purpose.
- (2) While public events that require admission tickets are being hosted, only those visitors who hold a valid ticket or guests of the event organiser are allowed on the Messe Erfurt premises during the official opening times. During the event, visitors must sit in the seats indicated on their ticket and use the designated entrances.
- (3) When a visitor leaves the exhibition grounds, their ticket loses its validity unless they can produce a re-entry ticket when they return.
- (4) Where visitors have been banned from entering the premises by MEF, event organisers, clubs or associations, these bans are recognised and enforced by the event organiser. These bans apply to all current and future events held in Messe Erfurt. To have a ban revoked, a written request must be submitted, stating the reason.
- (5) Only those persons authorised by the event organiser and/or MEF and carrying a proper pass are allowed to enter the work and storage areas of Messe Erfurt and the backstage areas.
- (6) Driving and parking on and within the exhibition grounds is permitted only with a special pass (access permit). All current restrictions must be observed. In all other respects, the provisions of the German Road Traffic Act (StVO) apply throughout the exhibition grounds. Driving is permitted at walking speed only. Vehicles parked illegally will be towed at the offender's expense. In case of doubt, the driver of the vehicle will be held accountable prior to the vehicle keeper. MEF shall be liable for damage to, destruction or loss of the vehicle only where such damage was caused by MEF, either intentionally or through gross negligence.

5 Authority to enforce site regulations/supervision/video surveillance

- (1) MEF enforces its site regulations throughout the exhibition grounds.
- (2) During events, the site regulations will be enforced by MEF, the security service contracted by MEF and/or the event organiser. The above are authorised to issue instructions to visitors in accordance with these site regulations.
- (3) For security reasons and to prevent danger, the MEF exhibition grounds and buildings are under video surveillance, observing the data protection requirements under the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR).

6 Checks

- (1) Upon entering the exhibition grounds and during on-site checks, all visitors are obliged to produce their ticket or other access permit and hand it over to the stewards and security staff for inspection upon request. If they refuse to do so, they will be refused entry. The general terms and conditions of the event organiser and the provisions of Section 4(3) of these site regulations set out the validity and usability of the ticket.
- (2) At the ticket check, visitors holding discounted tickets must produce proof of the reason for the reduced price to the stewards and security staff upon request. If they are unable to produce this proof, they must pay the difference between the reduced and the regular price. Otherwise the stewards and security staff can refuse the ticket holder entry to the event.
- (3) Stewards and security staff are authorised to search people and their belongings – including with the use of technical aids – to ensure that they do not pose a security threat as a result of alcohol or drug consumption and are not carrying any weapons or dangerous or flammable items or other prohibited items specified in Section 8(2) and (4).
- (4) Persons unable to produce a ticket or access permit and those obviously under the influence of alcohol or drugs or presenting any of the other security risks specified in Section 6(3) will be refused entry to the event and instructed to leave the premises. These persons are not entitled to a reimbursement of the admission fee. The same applies to persons who have been banned from entering the premises.
- (5) The provisions of the German Youth Protection Act (JuSchG) apply. Special provisions apply only where specific notices to this effect are posted at the ticket offices and entrances.
- (6) Stewards and security staff are authorised to inspect the contents of vehicles, bags and similar receptacles as well as clothing, such as coats, jackets and shawls, at any time. Depending on the nature of the event, visitors may be prohibited from bringing bags or similar receptacles into the venue.
- (7) Stewards and security staff are authorised to verify the identity of visitors by inspecting their official identification document (ID card, passport, etc.). Persons who refuse to consent to an inspection or identity verification can be turned away at the ticket check and refused entry to the exhibition grounds. These persons are not entitled to a reimbursement of the admission fee.
- (8) Persons whose outward appearance would suggest that they identify with an obviously aggressive type of behaviour, philosophy or political opinion will be refused entry to the event. Outward appearance includes, without limitation, typical clothing with themed written characters in which various combinations of numbers or letters clearly reveal the views of the wearer, as well as particular brands of clothing that serve as identifiers for such views. In addition, persons expressing such a type of behaviour, philosophy or political opinion through the use of flags, sew-on patches, propaganda material, public incitement or pronouncements can be refused entry to events.
- (9) Children and adolescents under the age of 14 are permitted to enter the premises only if they are accompanied by a parent/guardian or other person charged with their care (in accordance with the German Youth Protection Act). The only exception is for events hosted specifically for this age group and in cases where specific notices to this effect are posted at the ticket offices and entrances. Tickets must be purchased for children in all cases.

7 Conduct

- (1) All visitors to the exhibition halls or on the exhibition grounds must behave in such a way so as to not injure, endanger or – any more than is unavoidable under the circumstances – impede or inconvenience other visitors or participants.
- (2) All visitors have an obligation to cooperate and must do so, especially in the event of an evacuation. Assistance must be offered by all persons at all times to those in need of such. In an emergency, assistance should be sought.
- (3) Visitors must sit in their designated seats. They must follow the instructions given by the stewards and security staff, rescue services, police and MEF employees on duty. Attention must be paid to all announcements made by the event organiser and the security services. Their instructions must be followed.
- (4) All escape routes and emergency exits, entrances and exits, staircases, access roads and areas designated for the rescue and security services must be kept absolutely clear at all times.
- (5) By way of derogation from these site regulations, any further instructions necessary in individual cases to prevent or eliminate danger to life, health or property can be issued by the authorised persons under Section 5(2). Any instructions issued for this reason must be followed immediately.
- (6) The facilities to which visitors have access must be treated with due care. Visitors are not allowed access to any other technical or structural facilities or equipment, nor may they operate such.
- (7) Entry to exhibition stands is permitted only under the supervision of the stand personnel in charge.
- (8) The use of large quantities of paper, particularly in the form of rolls or confetti, and wallpaper, or the use of comparable amounts of paper, is prohibited.

- (10) Smoking is strictly prohibited in all buildings and temporary structures. This also applies to the use of e-cigarettes, e-shishas, etc. Smoking is permitted only in the specially designated and signposted smoking areas outside the buildings.
- (11) After the end of an event, the police, the event organiser, the stewards and security staff, or other authorised persons can stop or restrict traffic leaving the event until such time as pedestrians are no longer likely to be at risk.
- (12) All items found on the premises of Messe Erfurt must be handed in to the stewards.
- (13) In the event that persons are injured or property damaged, MEF or the stewards must be informed of this immediately.
